Peaceful struggle against child labor and child poverty

Publish works of art created by working children and children in poverty

Reflecting the voices of children and teachers in universities around the world

Conversing and interviewing teachers who are fighting child poverty

Conversing and interviewing working children and children in poverty

Widespread reflection of the situation in which working children live

Encouraging artists, university professors, to join the movement, and take steps to better understand children in poverty.

Holding festivals to honor teachers and inferior children

Our wish is that no child in the world should be forced to work and no child in the world should be deprived of education.

Respectfully
